

Hello!

My name is Kristeris, and I am writing to you from Latvia! It's a real pleasure to connect with you through this project. I am excited to learn about your life and culture.

A little about me: I was born and raised in Liepāja, a city known as "the city where the wind is born," famous for its long, sandy beaches and vibrant music scene. These days I am living and studying in Ventspils, a modern port city known for its beautiful blue cars and sculptures scattered around town!

When I am not focused on my studies, I am passionate about traveling. For me, there is nothing better than discovering new places, meeting new people and collecting stories from around the world.

Moving between Liepāja and Ventspils has shown me that even within one country, communication styles can shift. People on the coast tend to be open and genuine, but with a calm, unhurried pace.

I'm really curious to learn about the communication style in your culture!

Warmly,
